Fort Baker

National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior
Golden Gate National Recreation Area

This former Army site has been reborn as part of a national park—the last of the dramatic “post to park” conversions that have created the Golden Gate National Parks. Hiking, fishing, viewing wildlife, and spectacular views of the Golden Gate and the Marin Headlands await visitors to Fort Baker.

Several partners also provide recreation and educational opportunities and visitor amenities at Fort Baker.

Self-guided walking tours of the historic parade ground and for Horseshoe Cove are available at the Marin Headlands Visitor Center, the Bay Area Discovery Museum, or at Cavallo Point—The Lodge at the Golden Gate. They are also available online at:

www.nps.gov/goga/planyourvisit/fort-baker.htm

■ Since 1991, the Bay Area Discovery Museum has provided outstanding children’s educational programs activities for the 6 months to 8 year-old set.

Information 415-339-3900
www.badm.org

■ Travis Sailing Center located on the east side of Horseshoe Cove, offers sailing instruction and boat rentals.

Information 415-332-2319

■ The most dramatic recent changes are evident in the historic and contemporary buildings surrounding and overlooking Murray Circle and the historic parade ground. Cavallo Point—The Lodge at the Golden Gate, the newest lodge in the National Park System, welcomes visitors for a unique overnight stay in one of 68 historic and 74 contemporary guest rooms. The Lodge also has a restaurant, bar, meeting rooms and Healing Arts Center. The Lodge was constructed to the highest standards of environmental sustainability.
