

MARIN NIGHTLIFE

The Bay Area has always been fertile ground for music and nightlife. Renowned artists from the Grateful Dead to Metallica have made their musical mark in San Francisco, but have chosen to live their days here in Marin County.

EVENING ONE

Dine in Mill Valley however you please—from fine food and wine to burritos and beers—then make your way to the Sweetwater Music Hall to catch a show. Bob Weir (Grateful Dead, Furthur) and other longtime supporters of the Sweetwater re-opened their new venue in late January 2012. The famous stage now features a variety of talent, from national touring acts to local open mic nights.

EVENING TWO

The spirit of the Dead is alive and well at Terrapin Crossroads in San Rafael. Owned by Phil Lesh of the Grateful Dead, this venue features great food and state-of-the-art sound. Catch a show by Phil Lesh & Friends with world-class guest artists, or the “Terrapin All-Stars” featuring a rotating cast of local talent.

EXTRA NIGHT IN MARIN

Serving up fresh in-season craft beers, tasty food, and live music, Hopmonk Tavern will appeal to every age! Located in Novato at 224 Vintage Way, taste a special daily beer in the outdoor beer garden and listen to local music.
